Containing the freshest Advices Foreign and Domestick.

FROM JULY 13. TO JULY 20. 1738.

PETERSBURGH, March 14.

ACCORDING to the last Letters from Constantinople, the Grand Vizir, in an Audience which he lately had of the Grand Signior, entreated his Highness to permit him to quit his Post of Vizir, alledging that he was totally Ignorant of the Art of War, was hated by the Janissaries, and by no Means agreeable to the Christian Princes: However the Grand Signior rejected his Request, and ordered him to continue in his Employment. His Highness goes very little to the Divan, and is entirely govern'd by the Council of Bosthangi Bacha. We have other Advices which say the Grand Vizir is deposed.

VIENNA, March 26. From Lisbon, that there have arrived in that Port from the 1st of January, 1736, to the 31st of December, of the same Year, 669 Ships laden with Wheat, Oats, Barley and Flour, which Ships were for the most part English. Happy Country! in being enabled, thro' the Bounty of Providence, at once to succour famish'd Nations, and enrich themselves.

From Havre de Grace, April 2. The Vigilance, commanded by Capt. Gaspard, arriv'd here this Morning from Martinico, which Place she left on the 9th of February last: The Captain reports, that the 29th of January a Fire broke out in the Night at Fort St Peter, which burnt so furiously for 5 Hours together, that above 100 Warehouses, fill'd with Sugar, Coffee and European Goods were entirely consum'd; the Loss is computed at above 12 Millions of Livres, inasmuch as all the Cargoes of above 30 Ships arriv'd there from different Ports of France, as well those imported, as those design'd for Exportation, have been either consum'd by the Flame or Stolen. This Accident has thrown the Inhabitants of that Island into a great Consternation.

LONDON, April 4. From Constantinople, That the great Appearance of an approaching Treaty between the Ottoman Porte, the Emperor and Russia, seems to vanish; and on the other Hand we are preparing here for a War with all Expedition. It is said, the Porte will have this Year on foot, three formidable Armies, one in Crim Tartary against the Russians, one in Hungary against the Imperialists, and one in the Midst between the said Countries, to be ready in Case of Need.

Ggianum Coggia, Chief Admiral of the Grand Signior, is appointed to command a powerful Squadron in the Black Sea, whither several Frigates are sent to observe the Motions of the Russian Fleet; and a new Tax is laid on the Grand Signior's Subjects, for carrying on these Designs, in which the Christians and Jews are double taxed. A new Treaty is upon Conclusion between the Grand Signior and Prince Ragotzi, by which this Prince is recognized as Sovereign of Transylvania: in Recompence of which, Prince Ragotzi exhorts his Subjects to take up Arms against the Emperor: During all this, the Courts of Great-Britain, France and the States-General, are using their utmost Endeavours to mediate all Differences between them.

An Extract of a private Letter from Paris.

The secret Practises of several Factions still continue at the Court of France, each strives to have a Share in the Administration. It is very certain, that the King, thro' the earnest Exhortation of the Duke of Orleans and Cardinal de Fleury, continues to apply himself to the Affairs of State. It is likewise as certain, that the King does this less for Pleasure than through Necessity; Application seems burthensome to him. He lately told the Cardinal, that he was more fatigued with sitting an Hour in the Council, than with a whole Days Hunting. To which the Cardinal, with a Smile, answered, Sire, you are, however, yourself, so well qualified to direct the Affairs of your Kingdom, that it would be great Pity your Majesty should employ wholly to the Pleasure of Hunting, a Time so necessary to procure the Happiness of your People. The King replied with a very gracious Air, Monsieur le Cardinal, I'll consider of it. Though this Prelate still finds himself extremely weak, he yet strives to appear otherwise. Discoursing lately with M. Van Hoey, the Dutch Ambassador, who went to congratulate him upon his Recovery, his Eminence said, I am sure, Monsr. l'Ambassadeur, that you are very sincere in the Compliments you make me: It hath indeed, pleased God yet a while to spare my Life, at a time when the Good of the Kingdom, and the Tranquility of Europe required my Ministration.

From Vienna, that there is a Report as if the Duke of Lorrain was to make a Tour to Tuscany before the Campaign; of which however, there is but little likelyhood. That it was also said, that by Advices from Petersburgh, Schach Nadir was disposed to renew the War against the Turks, provided the Emperor and the Czarina would assure him that they will not make a separate Peace exclusive of him.

There is a Laboratory fitted up at St. James's for the Use of his Royal Highness the Duke, who is going through a Course of Chymistry, under the Direction of Dr. Shaw.

April 16. The following further Particulars are related concerning General Doxat's Execution on the 20th past at Belgrade: That he behaved with undaunted Courage to the last, and persisted in and died in the protestant Religion; telling the Jesuit that accompany'd him to the Scaffold, and who had used his utmost Endeavours to gain him over to the Roman Faith; that if there was a safer Belief than what he had, till that Time, lived in, he then would wish to die therein; shewing thereby, that till that Day, no surer had been made known to him. His Execution was not perform'd with much Success, the Executioner having with the first Stroke, chopp'd off half of his Shoulder, and afterwards with two more Blows, rather sawed than cut off his Head from the Body. He was 60 Years old; and his Corps was afterwards interr'd by his Servants near the Place of Execution. The next Day Sentence was also executed on the Rest of the Officers of the three Regiments of Maximilian of Hesse, Ogilvy and Schmettau.

Letters from Naples say, that the King of the Two Sicilies designing to have a good Fleet, his Majesty and his Ministers

DUBLIN, April 11. Laſt Saturday one Michael Matthews, a private Soldier, was ſhot in Oxmantown Green, for Deſertion from ſeveral Regiments: After which all the Foot Soldiers of three Regiments marched by his Corpſe one by one.

BOSTON, July 10.

Monday laſt Peter Hambleton and his Wife were convicted before Mr. Juſtice Adams, of picking Mr. William Greenleaf's Pocket-Book out his Pocket, for which Offence they were whipped Ten Stripes each at Bridewell, and then committed to Priſon, in order to be tried at the Quarter-Seſſions for ſtealing ſundry pair of Stockings out of the Shop of Mr. George Tilley. It has happened very unlucky for this induſtrious Knot of People, that they ſhould be confined during the late Commencemeut at Cambridge, where, had they been at Liberty, the whole Gang might have had as much Buſineſs as they could turn their Hands to, and would probably have practiſed with better Succeſs than they have done in our open Streets.

Saturday laſt, Capt. Templar arrived at Marblehead from Lisbon, in about 7 Weeks Paſſage, and about a Week before he left Lisbon, a Packet Boat came there from England in about 10 or 12 Days Run, which brought Advice, that 30 Sail of Men of War were order'd to be mann'd, but no Account of War being proclaim'd.

Several Gentlemen in this Town have lately had their Yards robb'd in the Night of Fowles, Kitchen Ware, Wearing Apparel, &c. ſo that People had beſt be more careful for the future, ſince ſuch Sharpers are among us. 'Tis beyond Diſpute, that ſome of the Gang lately ſtrolled hither from Philadelphia, are ſtill plying about this Town, not yet detected.
